

THE UNIVERSITY OF OXFORD INTERNATIONAL GUIDANCE COUNSELLORS' CONFERENCE

We are delighted to announce that a teacher from our school (Jarosław Skowroński) has won a place on the Oxford University International Guidance Councillors' Conference to be held in February 2014. There were 220 applications from the best secondary school from all over the world for just 51 places. Our school has been chosen as the only one in Poland to have its representative on the conference. During the conference delegates will have the opportunity to:

- Meet with admissions staff from across the Collegiate University
- Gain insight into Oxford's world class teaching system and academic offering
- Obtain information on their admissions procedures including the opportunity to observe a mock interview and learn how best support students' applications
- Speak with current international students
- Dine in an Oxford college
- Visit world class teaching facilities
- Network with colleagues from the best secondary schools in the world

If you are 1st or 2nd year student and would like to receive firsthand information about Oxford, contact Mr Skowronski after the winter break.

This is a unique opportunity to visit the world's most prestigious university and stay in the one of the most recognisable cities in Europe. During the two day conference delegates will have the opportunity to:

- Meet with admissions staff from across the Collegiate University
- Gain insight into our academic offering and tutorial system
- Obtain information on our admissions procedures including the opportunity to observe a mock interview
- Speak with current international students
- Dine in an Oxford college
- Visit world class museums and teaching facilities
- Visit the famous sights of Oxford
- Network with colleagues in your profession
